This Voyage was clearly seen by the commoners as an "Opportunity for a better life". This was suggested by the fact that nearly 55% of passengers were of the 3rd class and almost 60% of the travelers were solo, especially from England.

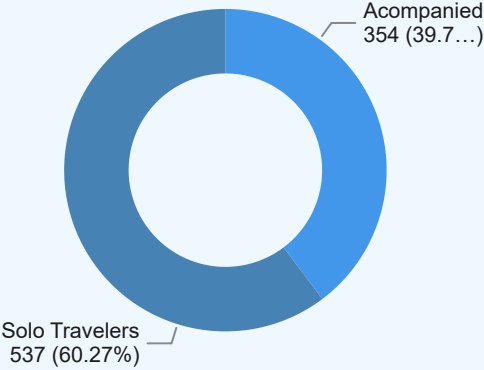

The Elite - First Class Passengers - saw it as a "Journey of Prestige". They enjoyed the luxurious space and being a part of the first voyage of the so claimed "Unsinkable Ship" despite the higher ticket fare.
